

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

After having 30 analyzed data in the previous chapter, it can be concluded that conveying messages in a conversation can be in an implied way, it is because usually there are certain purposes to do it which is to be understood by the hearer. To make implied meaning behind utterance can by breaks the rules of Cooperative Principle called as flouting of maxim. In The Boss Baby movie, there are flouting maxims that are used to make an implicature from utterances. All of previous thoughts can be concluding:

1. The type of flouting maxim in in each character's utterances in this research found all type of flouting maxim, that is flouting maxim of quantity, flouting maxim of quality, flouting maxim of relation, and then flouting maxim of manner. Only 2 characters from all characters in The Boss Baby movie did flouting of the maxims of conversations, these characters are Boss Baby and Tim.
2. By identifying every utterance in The Boss Baby movie, the writer knows better that by break the rules of cooperative principles which are known as flouting of maxims in conversation resulted implied meaning. The implicature of those maxims are used to exclude a third party, hide the real meaning, changes the topic of conversation or avoid talking about something, has certain purpose, cover up the truth, makes a joke, and gives a support.

3. The most common use type of flouting maxim in The Boss Baby movie is flouting maxim of relation with the highest rank.
4. By flouting of maxims the speaker may be seem to be uncooperative at the level of what they say, actually they cooperative at the level of what they implicate. In other words, the cooperative principle in conversation is assumed to be in operation as usual.

B. Suggestion

After analyzing and giving conclusion about flouting maxims in The Boss Baby movie, the writer would like to give several suggestions and expect to be helpful and useful for everyone in the future. Here it is:

1. For the students

The students who study linguistics, especially in pragmatic, they must know how to find conversational implicatures in utterance. The students must be able to distinguish types of flouting maxims in the utterances.

2. For the lecturers

For the lecturers who teach linguistics, hopefully can share about the cooperative principles and the flouting of maxims to the students. The lecturers should give correct explanation about it and also can be assessment for the students to do some research about it.

3. For the readers

For general readers who interested in linguistic, it will help them to know the types of flouting maxims and the implicature. By understanding about the flouting of maxims will be very helpful to use the implicature or imply the meaning to be conveyed behind the utterances.
