

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

Based on the research has been done, the writer can conclude several conclusion in Quidditch through the Ages by J.K Rowling which titles the evolution of the flying broomstick with word class of input base. as follow:

1. Word class of input base an Adjective about 8 that contain of word: inconvenience, illuminated, unvarnished, inflated, unfortunately, unlikely, immediately, unlucky. All data consist of suffix: -ed, -ly, and -ed.
2. Word class of input base a verb about 12 that contain of word: reintroduction, refused, remarkable, repelling, becoming, discovered, reaction, reported, researching, recently, improved, Intended. All data consist of suffix: -ion, -d, -able, -ed, ing, and -ly.

3. The word including of derivational morphemes often change the part of speech of a word and the word has been change.

B. Suggestion

The researcher hopes that this research will add and provide the information and knowledge about the morpheme, especially about The Differences base, stem and root of Suffix usages In short story.

This research is expected to add the knowledge and information that needed by students about morphology. In morphology, we will know all forms of words, both changes in words and also the function or meaning of each word structures.

In this research, the researcher pretends too many weakness because of limited experience research time. Nevertheless, the researcher hopes that this research will provide much information about the The Differences base, stem and root of Suffix usages and help the next researcher to develop the information more deeply.