CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

After analyzing all the data that has been collected and analyzed in Lang Leav's book of poetry entitled The Universe of Us, the author draws a conclusion from the results of the thesis she completed:

1. The writer uses two different theories on each main subject. In the theory of metaphor, the writer uses Mildred Larson's theory. Whereas in the simile theory, the writer uses Andrew Ortony's theory. The author uses the two theories because both of them do not contain many types, the two theories of the two experts are very strong and can explain the meaning and definition in detail.

2. In the study of her thesis, the writer describes the types of metaphors and similes expressed in Lang Leav's poetry. The research process carried out by the writer is aimed at solving a general question about the difference in metaphor and simile in deep detail.

3. The final result in writing a thesis that discusses metaphors and similes, the writer managed to analyze the final 39 data obtained from 30 poems from the book The Universe of Us. The data includes 22 data from conventional metaphor, 9 data from original metaphor, 2 data from simile literal, and 6 data from non literal simile.

B. Suggestion

To close this paper, the writer would like to give some suggestion for the learner that they have to take the advantage of learning literature and language through poetry book, especially The Universe of Us. Learning literature and language is fun if the researcher can find what they like to be analyzed. This is the suggestion goes to:

1. For the Learner

   The ways of learning literature are very necessary in learning language. The learners sometimes may feel confused because the study of literature may have so many types to be analyzed. The aim of this thesis is for explaining to them that literature is a subject that is fun to be researched. Thus, it will help the learners to discover something common in literature like metaphor and simile to learn language.

2. For the Next Researchers

   This paper has its focus on the analysis of metaphor and simile. The writer realized that this paper is still far away from being perfect so that the thesis is able to be a reference for the next researchers. The writer suggests the next researchers to do further analysis in literature approach. Analysis of simile and metaphor is something interesting.

3. For the Campus

For supporting the research of English literature, the campus has to provide various literature books especially metaphor and simile in its library. The provided books of literature will help the students to learn and find many information related to literature subject.
