CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

After analyzing all the data that has been collected and analyzed from the Bridgerton Series 2020 Season 1, based on the data analysis above, the researcher draws the conclusions from the results of the thesis completed:

1. The researcher uses two main theories that have different types on each subject. For the theory of elements of romanticism, the researcher uses the theory of Laura K. Egendorf, and for the theory of types of romanticism, the researcher uses the theory of C.S Lewis. The researcher uses two theories because both are elements and types of romanticism, each of which contains many different types and elements. The two theories of the two experts are very strong in explaining the meaning and differences in detail.

2. The final result in writing a thesis that discusses the elements and types of romanticism. The researcher managed to analyze the final 30 data obtained from 1 season, which contains 8 episodes in the scenes, events and dialogues of Bridgerton Series 2020. The data includes 40 data from elements of romanticism, 29 data from types of romanticism and Emotions is the romanticism element that is the most found with 22 data.

3. In addition to data classification, there is also a critical finding from the results of the analysis of this study. The most influential element in romanticism is emotion as one of the elements of romanticism, which is the most important and most basic element. This element is the most important and dominant element in romanticism, where emotion is the most basic element needed by writers to produce romanticism works. Emotions that are divided into two, positive emotions and negative emotions, have an important role in producing works and romanticism movements that produce art.

B. Suggestion

After completing this research, the researcher would like to give some suggestions to the readers, the next researchers and for the campus. That should take advantage of studying literature that is fun, such as learning through films or series. Especially the Bridgerton Series, which aired at the end of 2020, tells about the life of British royalty in 1813, a lot of literary content can be learned from this series. The suggestions as follows:

1. For the Readers

Studying literature is not always boring; there are many interesting and fun things to know more about. Understanding literary theory does not always have to be through reading, other subjects such as films or series are very fun and easy to learn media. With an initial interest in watching a series containing literature, it will provoke a desire to know many things about history and literature. The researcher hopes that the readers will make this research a reference to better master the theory and application of romanticism in films, movies, series or other data sources. Especially about romanticism where ordinary people understand the object just as an element of love, but it is not. There are many elements and types of romanticism that must be better understood, in order to distinguish them.

2. For the Next Researchers

   This study focuses on the analysis of romanticism taken from data sources, which contain several elements and types of romanticism points. The researcher realizes that this paper is still far from perfect so that this thesis can be a reference for further researchers. The researcher suggests for the next researchers to be able to analyze in a deeper literary approach. Romanticism is one of the most interesting literary theories to be studied and explored more deeply, because it is still continuous with human life.

3. For STBA JIA

   To support English Literature research, campuses should be provides a variety of literature books, considering STBA JIA is a language and literature-based campus. The literature books provided will help students to study more deeply and find a lot of information related to literary subjects.
