

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. CONCLUSION

After getting the interpretation and the discussion process, here is the conclude of the Allophones and Phonological Conditions Allomorphs: The Differences and The Sameness of Its Complementary Distribution on Ed Sheeran Songs. All the allomorph occur base on the changing of preceding sound of the word. Then, from the analyses can be taken the implicit conclusion are:

1. Classify allomorph through the phonological condition is depend on the final sound of the morpheme. The final of morphemes are voice consonant, voiceless consonant, vowel, and intensive.
2. There is six kind of allomorphs /s/, /z/, /ɪz/ or /əz/, /d/, /t/, and /ɪd/ or /əd/.
3. The allomorphs found mostly in the three songs by Ed Sheeran is /s/ and /əz/.
4. Not only humans interactions, but also linguistics has interaction, it is impossible that morphology can explain sound without the help of phonology.
5. It is compulsory that allomorph relates to sound, too, so morphology borrow the phonological functions in, so it is called, phonological conditioned (morphophonology).

6. The above facts tell us that the perfectness is the unity, too, like the unity between morphology and phonology, so language is like humans because no humans no language, or the opposite.

B. SUGGESTION

After analysing and conclusion of analysing allomorph in three songs by Ed Sheeran. The writer would like to suggest for this research that it can help everyone need it. The suggestions made are as follows:

1. For the writer

It is important to give the new experience to arrange the allomorph research, it makes the writer understand what allomorph is and everything related.

2. For the learners

it is suggested to the English learners to do something that improve the English skill frequently. It can be reading, listening, speaking and writing. To see how the language sets of the sign. Language is the way to communicate each other, to look for the interesting sentence built in morphology aspect. This aspect is including to understanding the word. Word is the part of morpheme that have minimal meaning in linguistic. And each morpheme has morph and sometimes allomorph. So, it is interesting to make particular research about it.

3. For the readers:

It is important to make of the application of the allomorph rule in reaseach. It can see the alter of morph to be allomorph and everything related with the preseding sound that giving the explanation of the relation of phonology and morphology in forming of sound to phone (allophone) and morph (allomorph).

4. For the college

The writer expect paper will be usefeul and can add references book in the School Foreign Of English JIA's Library. In order to make lecture easier in doing in research. The writer suggests the college to provide more book reference about morphology or other, and hopeful that the JIA's library has complete linguistic book.
