

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

After analyzing 41 data from complex sentences to be a sample of analysis the subordinate conjunctions function in it, the writer has conclusion based on references for composing this research. The writer found some functions in the three types of subordinate conjunction written in the complex sentence, they are:

1. The subordinate conjunctions that are written in the complex sentence are divided into three types based on what clause it introduces. The first is Subordinate Adverbial Conjunction, the second is Subordinate Nominal Conjunction, and the last is Subordinate Relative Conjunction.
2. Subordinate conjunction function basically is as connector between clauses, the area of it is restricted in clauses only. Subordinate conjunction connects area restricted only in between two clauses, they are main clause and dependent clause or subordinate clause which are preceded by subordinate conjunction.
3. Subordinate adverbial conjunction function to connect the time between the clauses is the conjunction that mostly appears in the complex sentences.
4. Learning how to use subordinate conjunction properly could improve writing skill especially making a good complex sentence.

5. General function of conjunction is a connector between entities (e.g nouns) or discourses. Without conjunction, there are no compound sentence and complex sentence.

B. Suggestion

After analyzing and giving conclusion of the subordinate conjunction's function in the "the Candy Country" short story, the writer has some suggestion to the readers related to the paper:

1. The readers

Researcher hopes this research will help the readers distinguish between coordinate conjunction and subordinate conjunction and it's used properly in the writing text or conversation.

2. The writer

This research gives more information and knowledge for the writer about linguistics especially syntax and grammar as well and how to make good writing language and spoken language.

3. The Next Researchers

To Researchers who want to do the similar research, Subordinate conjunction is very interesting field to be observed especially in syntax. There are many things can be discovered by widen scope of the study. This research hopefully can provide more references to the next researchers with the same topic.
