

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTIONS

A. Conclusion

Through this research, the researcher came to several conclusions

1. The cause of Ezio's Motivational changes mainly relied on his family, whether it is a tragedy that befell them or his own concern of their future. Seeing that whether the theme of each of the story different as the first half of his story is about revenge, the second half about the rise of his order, and the last half about a pursuit of clarity. It always has something to do with his family, either main or second.
2. The Psychosocial development of Ezio is depicted to be a steep hill. Which if it were to be drawn using a line graph it would always heading upwards as he seemed to acquire all of the virtue of psychosocial development. Despite all of this, Ezio's character was not supposed to be depicted as a perfect man that have never made any mistake but as a flawed man that learned from his mistakes through the teachings and wisdoms of those around him and his own experience.

B. Suggestions

Throughout the analysis that's done in this research, the researcher has some suggestions to give for several parties

1. For the field of linguistic

The researcher hoped that one day there will be someone out there that would do another research using the same subject but through different approach since this game's narrative contains a lot of code mixing in it is dialogue.

2. For the field of literary theory

The subject of this research also could still be applicable using other approach of literary theory such as psychoanalysis and many other.

3. For society at large

The researcher believed that this research on a video game character's life could be a proof that a story in a video game could be as deep as any other fantasy light novel out there and could also be analysed with a couple of applicable approach and has some profound elements of narrative in it. The researcher hoped there will be more individuals out there that could see the potential of this media of storytelling.
