CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

The following is the conclusion that the writer would like to reach after conducting a study and data analysis of the utterance that contains propositions and types of presupposition.

1. Regarding the first objective of the research, the writer has displayed the analysis of how presupposition presupposed propositions based on the theory of George Yule (1996). The contexts and situations of the utterance become the main factor of propositions appearance, meanwhile the structure of propositions become the main factor of the implied meaning and the way presupposition presupposed propositions. Furthermore, based on the analysis of all the data, propositions that appeared are 52 propositions.

2. Furthermore, regarding the findings of presupposition types that appear in The Batman movie, all of the six types of presupposition are found in this research. Structural presupposition appears the most in this research with the percentage of 26.66% (8 data). The second type is existential presupposition with the percentage of 23.33% (7 data). In third, there is counterfactual presupposition with the percentage of 20% (6 data). Lexical presupposition came in fourth of most appearances in this research with percentage of 16.66% (5 data). Next in fifth, there is non-factive presupposition with the percentage of 10% (3 data). Furthermore, factive presupposition made the fewest appearances with percentage of 3.33% (1 data).

B. Suggestion

After conducting the research, the writer is able to provide some suggestions. The suggestions are presented as follows:

1. To the Students

With the analysis of linguistics research, specifically in the pragmatic subject, students of the English literature should analyze and develop the research of pragmatic subjects, because the research about pragmatic subject can study and improve the way people communicate using the explicit and implicit meaning of language. Students should analyze more about presupposition theory to understand the structure of presupposition and how it relates with proposition. The writer hopes that this research will be used as the relevance research for the future study about presupposition. Students and researchers are recommended to study more about how people communicate and study about the explicit/implicit of communication.

2. To the Readers

The writer hopes that with the analysis of presupposition, the readers can understand how presupposition appears in the dialogue. In order to deliver and receive the implied meaning of the assumptions, the readers should carefully choose the words or structure to deliver the implied meaning as the readers wanted. The readers should study about presupposition theory to learn more about how humans understand the presupposed meaning. Furthermore, the readers can use this research as a platform to study about presupposition.

3. To the Writer

The writer hopes that this research can be a platform for future pragmatic study. The writer also opens to any criticism and guidance for this research. For further research, the writer also opens to any students that will ask the writer to help them about pragmatic or presupposition study.
