ABSTRACT

This study aims to find out the differences in the forms of linguistic behaviour and linguistic functions between male and female language and in the film Your Place or Mine. This study combines Robin Lakoff's theory to analyze ten types of female language and Jenifer Coates' theory to analyze four types of male language. Then, Janet Holmes' theory to classify linguistic behaviour. This research uses a qualitative descriptive method. Meanwhile, data were collected through observation and in-depth observation of the use of linguistic forms and behaviours by categorizing tag questions, lexical hedges, raising intonation, avoiding strong swear words, super polite forms, emphatic stress, hypercorrect grammar, intensifiers and empty adjectives, minimal response, command and directive, topic choice and swear words. It found 55 data divided into 13 categories of linguistic forms, namely 4 linguistic forms of female language and 9 linguistic forms of male language. Based on the differences in linguistic behaviour and topics, women use tag questions more often than men. In addition, intonation is also different due to the difference in role status between men and women.

ABSTRAKSI

*Penelitian ini bertujuan mengetahui perbedaan bentuk perilaku linguistik dan fungsi linguistik antara bahasa pria dan wanita dalam film Your Place or Mine. Penelitian ini mengkombinasikan teori Robin Lakoff untuk menganalisis sepuluh jenis bahasa perempuan serta teori Jenifer Coates untuk menganalisis empat jenis bahasa laki-laki. Kemudian, teori Janet Holmes untuk mengklasifikasi perilaku linguistik. Penelitian ini menggunakan metode deskriptif kualitatif. Sementara itu, data dikumpulkan melalui observasi dan pengamatan mendalam terhadap penggunaan bentuk dan perilaku linguistik dengan mengategorikan tag questions, lexical hedges, raising intonation, avoiding strong swear words, super polite forms, emphatic stress, hypercorrect grammar, intensifiers and empty adjectives, minimal response, command and directive, topic choice and swear words. Ditemukan 55 data yang dibagi menjadi 13 kategori bentuk linguistik, yaitu 9 bentuk linguistik bahasa wanita dan 4 bentuk linguistik bahasa pria. Berdasarkan perbedaan perilaku linguistik dan topiknya, wanita lebih sering menggunakan tag question daripada pria. Selain itu, intonasi juga berbeda karena adanya perbedaan status peran antara laki-laki dan perempuan.*
