

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

The researcher presents conclusions and suggestions in this chapter. This conclusion is the explanation of the research objectives, while this suggestion is submitted to the teacher and further researchers.

A. Conclusion

Based on the researcher's objectives, this study aims to produce products that can improve students' English grammar abilities with learning modules. By considering the research objectives, researcher make conclusions. This conclusion relates to the identification of learning modules and the development of learning module designs that are appropriate and needed by students in improving their English grammar abilities.

The results of the analysis of students' needs in learning materials for English grammar are, students need a complete learning module that includes all grammar material accompanied by examples and also practice questions. Explanations in each material are expected to be easy to understand. Examples that are in each explanation are also expected to be in this learning module.

The results of the development of the learning module in improving students' English grammar show that the product is in accordance with students' needs. The product includes explanations, examples, and practice questions. Not only as needed, but also in accordance with the existing aspects of the general function. These products can help students understand material that is easy to understand and can be used either with a teacher or without a teacher. This module can also be used as reference material that can be proven from a trusted source. Not only is the content in accordance with the rules, the format of the book such as fonts, paper, and cover is also in accordance with the aspects of quality elements.

B. Suggestion

This research is intended to develop new English grammar learning resources that can help students in the learning process. Based on this research, researcher in developing the English Grammar Learning Module still have many shortcomings. Then the researcher has the following suggestions:

1. For Teachers

English Grammar Learning Module can be used as additional teaching material in the ongoing learning process. Teachers should develop learning modules to improve students' English grammar. Learning modules can be developed by adding basic competencies.

2. For Future Researchers

For further research it is suggested to be more extensive in the aspect of analysis. It is intended that students' needs for learning materials are increasingly fulfilled and of high quality. Researchers also suggest that they can develop material, examples, and also practice questions related to the topic being discussed.
